How did the Fund perform during the period and what affected its performance?

The Fund's Class R6 shares outperformed the benchmark composed of 25% Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Total Return Index Value USD and 75% MSCI World Net Total Return USD Index (the "Blended Index") during the 12-month period ended September 30, 2025.

During the period, major world events included the ongoing Russian/Ukraine conflict, moderating inflation figures in the U.S., Mideast tensions, and significant government policy changes in the U.S. and elsewhere that are altering global trade and financial flows. Most equity indices worldwide delivered positive returns over the period.

A general overweight positioning to equity securities and underweight positioning to fixed income securities boosted the Fund's performance relative to the Blended Index.

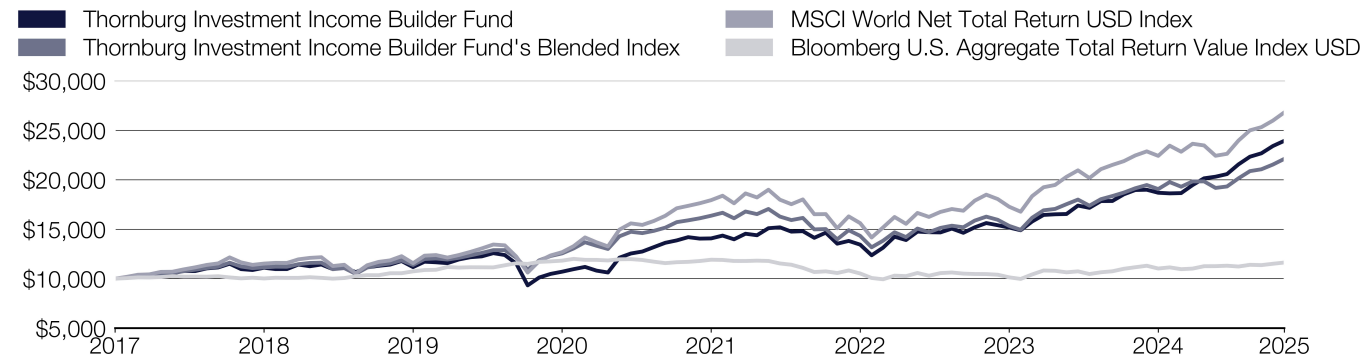

Within equities, the Fund's focus on higher-dividend-paying markets abroad aided the Fund's outperformance versus the MSCI World Net Total Return USD Index. Security selection within the communication services and financials sectors, along with an overweight positioning in Europe, also boosted performance relative to the Blended Index.

The Fund's selection effect within fixed income, especially within corporate bonds and securitized segments, contributed positively to performance relative to the Blended Index.
